1445676	I am already heavily involved in the development and application of an OpenSource building simulation program, ESP-r.	View
1445881	Of course, my involvement would depend on the size, scope and community involvement in the project. There are already open source (GPL) energy simulation cores available that I'm involved with (i.e., ESP-r). There is a void in open source GUIs.	View
1448796	Not just any open-source project.	View
1489430	I've done a lot of DOE2.1E function writing, and post-processing. I'm not sure if my current company would be willing to share, but I would.	View
